

I am opposed to BPL.

There is no valid need for this service as the current "telephone" network and cable TV network, along with developing wireless technology, are sufficient for the public to access the internet. In addition, BPL contributes to RF interference (read "pollution") which would be difficult at best to suppress.